Biography

Dr. Öncül-Demir received her BS, MSc and PhD degrees from Middle East Technical University. As a researcher she is primarily interested in psychology of violence. During her graduate studies she conducted intensive interviews with prison inmates. Besides, as a visiting researcher she engaged in a project on sexual violence at University of Birmingham, School of Psychology, Centre for Forensic and Criminological Psychology. Dr. Öncül-Demir's second area of research focuses on emotional mechanisms of psychological disorders. She is currently studying the role of disgust in psychopathologies and how it changes over the course of adulthood. Dr. Öncül-Demir worked as a research assistant during 2005-2014 at Middle East Technical University, Department of Psychology and as an assistant professor during 2014-2022 at Zonguldak Bulent Ecevit University, Department of Psychology.
